

Looking Ahead

Mark Snowden
Director of Missional
Leadership, CABA

Going into my 7th year at CABA, I sure hope Jesus returns! But should He tarry, here are some things you'll want to get excited about as much as me!

1. CABA's Consultants begin rolling in mid-January. Everyone has been trained over the past six months and are ready to go. Pastors, thank you for participating in interviews! Pray for Aaron Swensen, Brent Wilson, and Mark Wilson as they begin helping "network solutions" and "develop a dynamic resource network."

2. Communicate, communicate, communicate! Good communication is a two-way street, so we are working with John Park to develop ways to get you engaged. We want to involve church leaders in lasting solutions.

3. Go and Tell! Ray Taw is helping any and all of us join in on international partnerships. Some churches are already planning on a trip to the IMB in January and then to South Asia in August. Where could God move you? I just met a South Asian at a convenience store. He had never heard about Jesus since he's been here. Go and tell and go again!

Pastor Jerome Byrd launched a new Trail Life Troop that meets at Good News Baptist in Colerain.

Standing on the Shoulders of Giants

Michael Clary,
Christ the King

There once was a certain kind of evangelical Christian I felt free to make fun of. I was pastoring a fast growing church in an urban environment, and a spirit of elitism had infected us. No one would correct me on it because they made fun of them too.

The people we felt free to mock were conservative, uneducated, backwoods fundies who still read the KJV. They lacked the theological sophistication and cultural insight I had acquired while doing campus ministry and studying at seminary.

I came from the hills of WV. Appalachian, born and bred. I knew these people well because I grew up around them. But I had moved on. I was better than them. I was more learned and cultured. I had "seen the world" and they hadn't.

Generational Disciple-making may be a new idea for some. When you make a follower of Jesus, can they turn around and do the same thing with others?

The Apostle Paul trained Timothy who was supposed to “entrust to reliable men who could teach others also” (2 Tim. 2:2). That’s four “generations.” In this case, we’re not talking age, but believers.

When you meet someone that is a believer, do you want to know if they’re making disciples, too? In the Cincinnati Area, we have 1.5 million people who are not evangelical Christians. About one million people are not affiliated with any religious organization.

When the SBC Annual Meeting was in Indianapolis, a friend named Lawrence helped a man sitting beside a sidewalk to come to faith in Christ. Immediately, he wanted to know if he could share the Good News with his sister. It turned out that she was a prostitute in the apartment behind them. The new convert said, “My sister will want all the girls like her to know Jesus!” Now, that’s disciple-making!

We have such good news to share! This summer while doing DR work in Eastern Ky., I led a teenager named Logan to faith in Christ. He happened to go my brother’s church. When I followed up, I found out that he broke up with his girlfriend and quit coming to that church. They lost track of him. While it’s admirable that the young man accepted Christ, his experience might have become a dead-end. It is my prayer that not only is he growing in Christ “somewhere,” but that he’s sharing his newfound faith with others in his circle of influence. I learned a lesson!

The theme of our Pastor’s Conference on March 27 is Generational Disciple-making. Make disciple-making a priority so that multiple generations hear and follow Jesus.

I am blessed to have married my best friend, Brenda, for forty-two years. We meet at church as preteens and have two wonderful children; a son, a daughter, her husband, and one grandchild. God has been so good to our family. I enjoy several interests in my free time; I love to ride a road bicycle with friends and I am an avid outdoorsman, a passion passed down from my dad.

PASTOR SPOTLIGHT

Mark Wilson
North Fairfield Baptist Church

I began my preaching and teaching ministry early in 1983, and I have two biblical principles that guide my pastoral ministry: 1) to be an effective leader, you must be willing to serve; 2) we must teach those things that become sound doctrine. I believe the Bible teaches that all church leaders should reflect both principles, which make a difference in reaching our community with the Gospel of Jesus.

My prayer concern would be that each of us prays for the other. The ministry is never easy, but there isn't anything else I would rather do!

The one thing I would share with everyone is something that I constantly remind myself; the Gospel doesn't need me to make it better. Apostle Paul from Romans 1:16 (NKJV) <sup>16</sup>For I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ, for it is the power of God to salvation for everyone who believes, for the Jew first and also for the Greek. I must remember any time I try to add to the Gospel, I am saying I am ashamed of it.

Friends, we shouldn't be ashamed of the Gospel because that Gospel has never brought us any shame.

Blessings, Mark

I was a successful church planter in an urban cultural context in Cincinnati. My sending organization flew me around the country to share my success stories and train younger planters in the "way it's done."

I would not have admitted this at the time, but deep down, I felt superior to my hometown people and their country religion. My ministry "success" was at least partly driven by a desire to separate myself from them and prove that "I'm not one of those fundie Christians."

But then it began to dawn on me: I was standing on the shoulders of giants. My grandfather was one of those country preachers. His provided for his family by working a physically demanding job in a steel mill his whole life. His family was poor, but he did what needed to be done.

He had only received a 6th grade education. He didn't know how to read very well. He listened to the KJV bible on audio cassette on his 45 minute commutes to work. Up and back, every day, listening to the Bible. King James! Scripture got under his skin.

My mom told me a story once. When he was filling out paperwork or writing something and didn't know how to spell a word, he would remember where that word was in his KJV bible, then look it up to see how it was spelled.

My great-grandfather was the same way. He only received a 3rd grade education. He planted a church deep in the hills of WV and built a church building for it on his property. He ministered there for many years, preaching from his KJV Bible.

He lived to be 102 years old and was healthy and energetic up to the very end. In his 90s, he would take fruit baskets to the "shut ins" of his church who were much younger than him. He married his wife when she was 14. He remained faithful to her and they enjoyed 74 years together.

In my office, I have this poem framed that my great-grandfather ("Popo Galley") wrote on Sept. 1st, 1928, about his call to ministry. He didn't really retire, he just slowed down. He remained faithful to that calling for the rest of his life. He died on July 1st, 2011.

He stayed true to the Lord and to his calling for 80 years. EIGHTY YEARS!

And here I was, three or four years into my new church plant, attracting a few hundred people, feeling like I'd accomplished something. Feeling superior to men like my grandfather and great grandfather.

So I repented. I repented of my arrogance. I repented of my self-righteous attitude towards "that old time religion" that sustained my grandparents who had so much less than me. I repented of looking down on faithful, older Christians who had passed on a legacy to me.

I share all these things because my arrogance was cultivated in an evangelical subculture that produces a spirit of elitism. And I wanted to ascend the ladder and reach achieve notoriety within that subculture. What I have learned is that subculture is actually sub-Christian.

Elitist Christianity cannot survive the rigors of hard discipleship. But my grandparents did. And they handed me a legacy to follow. There are many points of doctrinal disagreement that I would have with my grandfathers. But these were men who suffered and knew how to suffer well.

These are the sorts of men that deserve our respect and admiration. Men who finished well and stayed true. Men of whom the world is not worthy. By God's grace, I want to follow in their footsteps and be like them. SDG

We want to welcome John Park as our new Communications Director. This part-time role was approved at our Annual Meeting. John is trilingual (i.e., English, Japanese, and Korean) and has served as the English Ministry Leader and Youth Ministry Leader at Power Mission Korean Church in addition to his business career. We look forward to John's leadership in continuing to improve our communication systems to our pastors and churches.

We have an excellent evangelism ministry in our Block Party Trailers, led superbly by Diane Sibcy. Our operating strategy for this ministry is to be self-sustaining. Rates for our trailers have been raised for 2023 (e.g., existing reservations were grandfathered in at the old rates), which is the first increase in 6 years. Expenses for this ministry have risen with increased replacement costs for generators, inflatables, trailer repairs, etc. We have been certified by both Ohio and Kentucky. We are also on-track to add a needed new combo trailer (e.g., inflatable plus a propane-ready grill) in 2023, and hopefully a second one in 2024. So, this seemed to be the right time to make an adjustment. However, if your church finds the increase prohibitive for your use, please share that with Diane. We want our churches to be delighted to use this very effective evangelism tool!

We would ask your prayers for the two ALT sub-groups that have been chartered to determine the best approach for our future Collegiate Ministry work and our Credentialing processes with our churches. Greg Burch is coordinating the first team, and Glenn LaRue is coordinating the second team. Our goal is to bring recommendations to the Semi-Annual Meeting.

We are off to a good start financially in our new fiscal year (e.g., Oct. 1 through Sept. 30). Our churches have contributed $37,699.72 in October and November, which is an 8.35% increase for the same period last year. Our expense management remains solid.

In our current culture, manhood is messy. We are constantly bombarded with opinions of how we should act, what we should do, and the role we should take in our homes. Men's Summit is an annual 2-day men's conference designed to challenge us in the area of biblical manhood. Spend time in fellowship with men from all walks of life and learn from dynamic keynote speakers.

Happy New Year from CABA Trailers!

The inflatables have passed the inspection for 2023. I would like to thank Liberty Heights Mason campus for allowing us to use their facility for our annual inspection with the state of Ohio and now our new Block Party Trailer opportunities in the state of Kentucky. I also appreciate all the helpers who made the inspection possible. Thank you, Ryan Miller from Lakota Hills BC, Aarron Ellerman and Joe Myers from Goshen Community Church, Matt McKay and Rick Kinter from North Fairfield BC, Anthony Wade, Jennifer Wade, Aly Barrett, and Megan Johnson from Faith Building Church and Jason McKinney from One Church for helping with the set up and take down of the inflatables. We appreciate everyone's hard work!

The trailers continue to be available for your ministry needs and we look forward to assisting you with Block Party Trailer Equipment in this new year. We at CABA Trailers want to encourage you to continue to use wisdom as you make plans for your up-coming 2023 events. When using a Block Party Trailer please continue to sanitize any equipment you use before and after your event and return all amenities as you found them. Lastly, remember the 3 R's of Block Party trailer use.

Reason:

2 Corinthians 5:20a

"Now then, we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God were pleading through us."

What a privilege we have as ambassadors for Christ and what wonderful tools have been provided to us through the CABA Block Party Trailer Ministry. Let's use them for the purpose with which they were intended.

Block Party Trailer Update

Diane Sibcy

Readiness:

I know, first hand, the details that it takes to get ready for an Event so in preparing let's remember to make our ambassadorship a first-priority. Evangelism tools are provided for you in the Evangelism Boxes on each trailer. Feel free to use them or come ready with your own evangelistic presentation. The items on the Block Party Trailers give us a friendly environment to share Christ so let's take that opportunity by being ready to tell others of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. 1 Peter 3:15

Report:

Please send your Block Party Reports back to me right after your event so that I can share your results and we can all be encouraged by what God is doing through His ambassadors.

I look forward to another wonderful year of working with all the churches to reach our communities for Christ. To God be the glory!

Over the years one observation that I have made is that God moves and raises up church planters in his timing and sometimes when we least expect it. When our area first started receiving Nepali Refugees in 2009, we prayed and worked with churches to raise up leaders. For many years we had one Nepali Church that was SBC. In the past seven years, God has moved in a great way and now there are ten SBC Nepali Churches in the Greater Cincinnati area with a few more possibly being planted soon.

A few years ago, the first Arabic Church was planted in Cincinnati. Amer Safadi became the Pastor of the Arabic Church of Cincinnati. God has now blessed Amer's ministry and is using him to train more Arabic Pastors to plant in other cities.

The first Arabic church planting conference was held November 28th-30th in partnership with the State Convention of Baptists in Ohio. At that conference, there were fourteen church planters from six states. The planters were originally from Jordan, Egypt, Iraq, Palestine, Pakistan, and the Sudan. Nine of these planters will plant a church in 2023. The speakers included several SCBO staff, Pastor and SCM, Travis Smalley, and Pastor Amer. Dr. Jeremy Westbrook with the State Convention of Baptists in Ohio spoke and presented a compelling challenge to potential planters. Next year's conference takes place in Michigan July 13th-15th.

There are currently plans to plant Arabic churches in Northern Kentucky and Columbus. Other cities need Arabic speaking churches as well. Several will move to Cincinnati to complete a residency working with Amer, then be sent out to plant churches to reach the Arabic speaking population. It is amazing to see all that the Lord is doing right here in Cincinnati.

We are praying that the Lord will raise up leaders amongst the Spanish speaking population so that seven years from now we can count many Spanish speaking churches that the Lord has birthed.

Amer and the other church planters in Cincinnati are helped by your gifts to the Cooperative program and Annie Armstrong Easter Offering. Thank you for your support both by praying for our church planters and supporting them financially.

“Anyone in any city can plant a new church, receive assessment, orientation, funding and care.”

-- Jeremy Westbrook, SCBO state exec, saying what it means that Ohio is SEND State

And all of a sudden it seems we are in 2023. I am not really sure where 2022 went, but I am very excited to see what this new year holds. By January 9th students will be back into full swing at UC.

There is a particular group that will be kicking off their final semester of college. Graduation has long been a goal that is so near to their reach now. One final semester, one final spring break project, one final taste of what youth and growing up has held and prepared them forward from. And now these senior students are about to set heart and mind and energy to the next challenges of life.

They will aspire. This verb, aspire, means to seek to attain something high or great, to long for. The Greek word “orego” means to stretch forth or long after. The folks back in South Texas would just say to hanker after.

Paul told the Galatian church (1:10) “For is it man’s favor or God’s that I aspire to? Or am I seeking to please men? If I were still a man-pleaser, I should not be Christ’s bondservant.” I know a group of graduating students that do not aspire to be man-pleasers but to seek God’s favor. But they are about to be thrust into a new world that is all about man-pleasing or even self-pleasing. Yes, they saw plenty of this in their college days, but they have not imagined or seen what they are about to be exposed to.

This is where the local church can step in. These young adults may move into your area. Will you reach out to them as they were reached out to on the campus? Will you pray for them as their friends in their church have prayed for them and held them accountable to their pursuit of faith?

Aspire

I have but a few more months with them on campus. Collegiate Ministry has always been a sending ministry. Those students were never mine to keep, but to invest in and prepare for a short while before they moved on into the next steps of life.

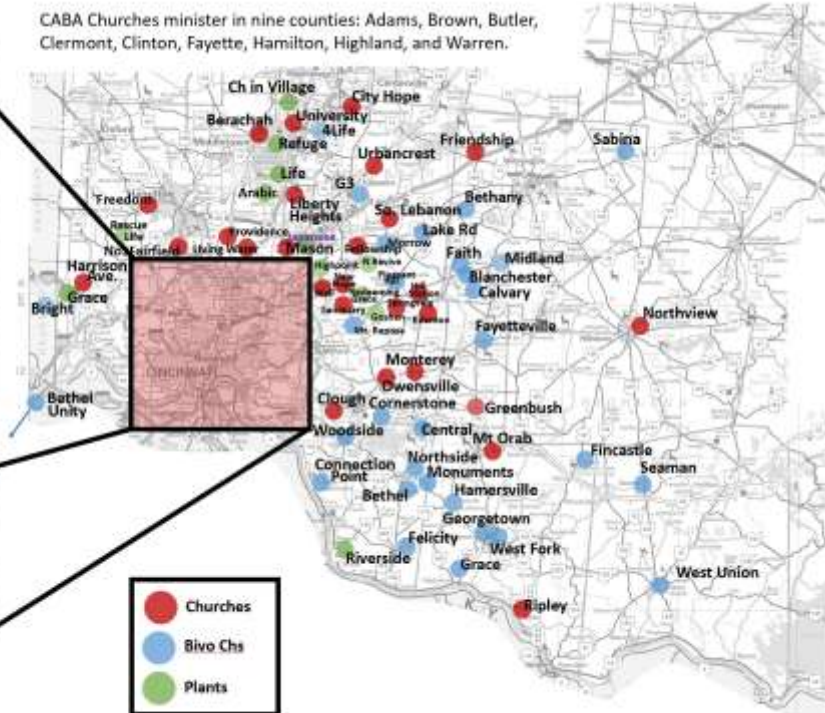

They need your prayers. They need your encouragement and support. I have focused the last four years on graduating seniors and helping them prepare for life after college. They are so ready to begin. They are anxious and excited and might not admit it but a little fearful as well. This will be a semester they will always remember. Pray that part of those memories are around the hands of Christ guiding their steps forward as they stretch forth.

Thank you churches for helping me love students well. You are great folks.
